TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

As the owner of Inhaca Day Spa & Salon, I would like to congratulate you with the outstanding beauty academy, Isa Carstens.

Anoeske Els is currently a first year student at the academy, who is busy completing her hours at my Spa.

I have not come across a student on her standard. Her praises can be mentioned in the following areas: Treatments, client care, preparations, as well as treatment after care. She is always immaculately dressed.

Her willingness to learn adds to the prestige of this student.

It is heartwarming to witness in the era we are living in today, were students base their choices on financial remuneration rather than passion, that there are still young ladies who have a passion for this industry, and who choose to strive for excellence.

The definition of an outstanding therapist is not only limited to outer beauty, but achieved through a soft spirit penetrating the hearts with her clients with love.

Professional describes the way this young lady handles her work, added with a spice of pride and diligence.

Without a doubt I can proudly accolade that she is an asset to my business.

Good luck with all the challenges your academy might be facing and do keep up the good work.

Kind regards

Mia Kriel
